Sponsor Envy Creative on YouTube

We're a video production studio in Simi Valley, California. We film commercials for brands, and on our channel we review the gear and software we use to make them. Products we review get used on real client shoots, so viewers see how they hold up on set.

How it works

01
Send a request
Pick a package at thinkenvy.com/youtube and tell us about your product. We reply by email to confirm fit.

02
Pay the invoice
Every package is prepaid. Once it's paid we book your slot; rush orders agree on a publish date.

03
Ship your product
Send the product and any accessories it needs to our studio, with a prepaid return label if you want it back.

04
We film and publish
We use it on real shoots, film the video and publish it with your link in the description.

Sponsorship terms

- You provide the product and any proprietary accessories. If it arrives damaged or defective, we may ask for a replacement.
- Products are used in good faith for what they're made for. We aren't responsible for items we can't return without a prepaid label.
- We keep editorial control. The review reflects our real experience with the product.
- We don't guarantee results, sales or view counts.
- Content may be a full-length video or a Short, and we may share it on retail sites.
- Videos stay the property of Envy Creative. You get a non-exclusive license to share them for marketing; mass media distribution needs a separate license.
- All packages are prepaid, and there are no refunds once production starts.
- Sponsored content includes FTC disclosures. We may turn down projects that conflict with existing partners.
